May 25 Performers

Jono Manson is a prolific singer/songwriter with major-label releases both as a recording artist and producer. "November" features his Santa Fe-based band, along with guest spots by local favorites like Hollie Farris, Jeff Watkins, Sharon Gilchrist and Tom Adler.

Wiley Jim, a cowboy singer steeped in swing jazz of the 1940's, has been performing professionally in various configurations from solo to a five piece band since 1975. He's shared the stage with artists including Ian Tyson, Riders in the Sky, Kix Brooks, Tish Hinojosa and Ramblin' Jack Elliot, in a variety of venues from music festivals to cowboy poetry gatherings. A self-taught guitarist, his guitar playing is a blend of styles including swing-era jazz, blues, South American, and Spanish.

Sharon Gilchrist is a long time Santa Fe favorite, with a silky sweet voice and a bluegrass mandolin. Originally from Southlake, Texas, Sharon has performed with artists including the Dixie Chicks, Peter Rowan and Tony Rice Quartet, Uncle Earl, and the Bill Hearne Trio. Gilchrist has worked with many independent artists in Nashville, both on mandolin and upright bass. Currently she performs in the Santa Fe All-Stars, along with Susan Holmes, Joe West and Ben Wright. Sharon is also showcased on the brilliant 2007 Rounder Records release "Quartet" by the Peter Rowan and Tony Rice Quartet.

Another popular figure on the Santa Fe music scene, Terry Diers has been singing pretty much his whole life, beginning at age 2 1/2 with his father, who was a singer and drummer. At 17 he played in a jug band on the Ted Mack Amateur Hour TV show from New York. Diers has been writing and performing his own songs all across America for over 30 years. There is a bit of the Church in Terry's music, and a whole lot of Cajun-spiced soul.

The May 25 performance will be broadcast the following week, June 1 on KBAC-FM 98.1, 10 p.m. to midnight, and will stream on the internet at www.kbac.com.
